Santa's helper mugged for cash collection

Charity bucket snatched from Rotarian in town centre

HANNAH MIRSKY
@HannahMirskyCN

ONE of Santa's helpers got the shock of his life when his charity bucket was stolen in Haverhill town centre.

Mike Morris, of Haverhill Rotary Club, had been collecting alongside Father Christmas in his sleigh on Saturday when the theft took place.

Santa, who had parked his sleigh in the High Street, began packing up at around 2.15pm.

Fifteen minutes later, as Mr Morris walked back to his car with a bucket of all the change they had collected, the theft took place.

He said: "Unfortunately I was on my own.

"I had a bucketful of loose change and I was walking past St Mary's [Church in the High Street] when somebody came up behind me and snatched it out of my hand.

"I didn't hear him. He just made off.

"There were one or two people who saw it, including a fairly valiant couple who chased him."

Mr Morris said he and some other members of the Rotary Club gave chase in a car, and the police arrived soon afterwards.

The Rotary Club was collecting for a fund it uses to give out grants to local good causes, as well as to international charities when humanitarian crises hit.

Although the cash has not been counted up, Mr Morris estimated they took around £400 on Saturday, of which around £120 was cash in the bucket.

Luckily, he had all the notes that had been collected inside his jacket.

However, the setback hasn't stopped members of Haverhill Rotary Club continuing to go out and about in the town with Santa – they were on the streets of Haverhill collecting again on Monday night.

■ A man has been charged and is due to appear before magistrates in January.

Councillors give £1,700 to school

MORE than £1,700 has been donated to a Haverhill pre-school by kind-hearted councillors.

Stepping Stones Pre-School, based at Coupals Primary Academy in the town's Chalkstone Way, moved into a new state-of-the-art building in October.

The grants donated by Cllrs Margaret Marks and Tony Brown have helped the pre-school kit out its new facilities.

Cllr Marks donated £1,221 from her St Edmundsbury locality budget, which helped the pre-school buy a cooker, fridge, freezer and dishwasher for its new kitchen.

Cllr Brown put up £493 from his Suffolk County Council locality budget, which allowed Stepping Stones to buy new signs.

New hopes for A1307 funding

IMPROVEMENTS to the A1307 could be one of the "big ticket" projects made possible by a new tranche of funding for the Cambridge City Deal.

Tranche two funding will open up a further £200 million of a deal that could potentially be worth a total of £1 billion over the coming years.

City Deal chairman, Cllr Lewis Herbert said he would like to see larger infrastructure projects like improvements to the A10 and the A1307 on the cards, as well as "transformative" rail options.

"There's a huge opportunity for us," said Cllr Herbert. "The doors are opening for great change, and it's a chance to look at some big ticket items."

The money will be made available after an independent review in 2019, which will determine whether Cambridge has done a good job with its first £100 million tranche of cash. Councillors are already looking at priorities for the spending and hopes are high that better infrastructure could be high on the agenda.

JOSH THOMAS

A "rolling fund" could be created which will make it easier to invest in larger infrastructure projects. This could include improvements to the A1307, as well as to other roads such as the A10 between Cambridge and Ely.

Rail projects are being looked at, but not to connect Haverhill to Cambridge. More likely recipients of the new tranche of funding include new railway stations at Addenbrooke's, Cherry Hinton and Fulbourn, near Cambridge.

Bus and cycle improvements could also be on the agenda for the next tranche of funding, including a cycleway from Linton to Cambridge.

The news comes as the Haverhill Area Forum agreed last week to write to Cambridgeshire, Suffolk and Essex County Councils, calling for them to get behind plans to improve the A1307.

Haverhill's Chamber of Commerce has been running a campaign, backed by MP Matthew Hancock, to get the road replaced with a dual carriageway.

The City Deal is using some of its first tranche of funding to work on bus and cycle routes along the A1307.

COMMUNITY

FESTIVE: Students, staff and members of the community at the joint school carol concert. Pictures: David Johnson

'Tis the season to be jolly...

THREE Haverhill schools linked up for a festive celebration this week.

Students at the town's Castle Manor Academy, Burton End Primary Academy and Place Farm Primary Academy got together for their annual joint carol service on Monday evening.

The event took place at St Mary's Church in the town's Market Square.

Head of Burton End, Madeline Vosper, said: "As a headteacher who leads the school choir, it is one of the highlights of my year – not only leading the Burton End choir but joining in with all the other pupils, students and staff."

EMERGENCY

Woman in car for 40 minutes after crash

A WOMAN was trapped in her car for 40 minutes after a crash in Haverhill in the early hours of Tuesday morning.

The ambulance service was called to the scene of the single-vehicle crash in the town's Duddery Hill at around 1.05am.

The woman, who was the driver and believed to be in her 50s, had become trapped after her car rolled onto its side.

Three fire engines attended the scene and released her from the vehicle.

Police also attended, and the ambulance service sent a rapid response vehicle, an ambulance officer and an ambulance crew.

The driver was out of the vehicle at 1.53am. She was treated for a head injury and taken to Addenbrooke's.

Her injuries are not thought to be life-threatening or life-changing.

CHARITY

Lottery winner's special kind gift

A HAVERHILL lottery winner is giving a disabled four-year-old boy the Christmas gift of a lifetime in the form of a specially-adapted home.

Gillian Bayford was living in Haverhill in 2012 with her then-husband Adrian when the couple scooped £148million in the Euromillions lottery – the country's second-biggest jackpot ever.

Now she runs A&G Properties in Scotland, and has been moved to a heartwarming act of kindness for a disabled boy and his family in Angus.

Blake McMillan has a rare neurological disorder called MECP2 duplication syndrome.

It means he needs 24-hour care as he cannot walk, talk or sit, has seizures that are getting worse and more frequent, has a weak immune system and often suffers from pneumonia.

As a result, his family struggle with the facilities in their current home.

Blake's mum Jenny runs a fundraising store and is a passionate campaigner, and

HANNAH MIRSKY
@HannahMirskyCN

Gillian was inspired by her story to help the family out.

Through her property business, the lottery winner has found a suitable home a short walk from the beach, and is paying to have it specially adapted.

She said: "Jenny came in and said she was looking for a house in the area and I said I'd keep an eye out for anything that came up.

"A couple of weeks later it came to light that a house on the high street was going back on the market.

"A&G Properties has offered, and she's kindly accepted, that we will pay for the balance of the upgrade and work that needs to be carried out as a Christmas present, I suppose, to Blake.

"It then allows any money Jenny has fundraised to go to finding a treatment.

"Jenny is a complete inspiration. She works so hard and if the fact that I, and the girls here, can help bring Blake here [to the house] then we'll do it."

Blake's family are hoping to move into their new home next month.

Jenny said: "I was totally in awe that Gillian would do something like this.

"I'll be paying rent but Gillian didn't have to do something like this. She's doing me a massive favour.

"I was in tears when she told me. I'm so grateful.

"I'll be able to look after Blake in a safe and secure environment and it means the world.

"In this house I can always be within eye shot of Blake. Gillian has given me peace of mind."

Jenny is fundraising for Reverse Rett, a charity that researches Blake's condition. She is aiming to get to £100,000.

Festive fun as students sing carols

ELDERLY residents were treated to a festive concert by students last Thursday.

Year 9 students at Linton Village College have been busy raising cash for their annual Coffee and Carols party, through sponsored silences, car washes and a non-uniform day.

Using the money raised, they hired coaches to bring more than 100 local pensioners to the college, for the festive concert.

They also served their guests drinks, cake and mince pies, and gave them each a small present to take home.

HEALTH

Mental health spend 'negligible'

SUFFOLK County Council only spent £40,000 of its £28 million public health budget on mental health initiatives – or just 0.16 per cent.

The council allocated £53,000 for its Suffolk Lives Matter Strategy in 2015/16 – which aims to prevent suicide – but only spent £40,488.

The news comes after charity Mind found that local authorities in the UK spend on average less than 1 per cent of their public health budget on mental health.

Paul Farmer, chief executive of Mind, said: "Our research shows that the current spend on public mental health initiatives is negligible. This can't continue."

"Prevention is always better than cure and ignoring the problem simply doesn't make sense."

"Investment could stop people who aren't unwell developing mental health problems in the future."

Cllr Tony Goldson, Suffolk County Council's cabinet member for health and chairman of the Suffolk Health and Wellbeing Board, said: "Mental health is an embedded theme running through all public health work, as we aspire to create a healthy environment for individuals, families and communities to live and work in."

SAMAR MAGUIRE

"Although public health does not have a specific remit for mental health services, it works to promote good mental health."

"Mental health is a key part of public health's commissioned services such as sexual health, drugs and alcohol and healthy lifestyle services."

"We will be undertaking work to support suicide prevention."

"The team also promotes positive mental health through training such as Making Every Contact Count, which provides face -to-face support to staff in the health and care system to give brief advice about mental health promotion and referral information."

Local councils are required by law to have initiatives that promote good physical and mental health. Schemes to promote mental health could include school-based mental health programmes, workplace wellbeing initiatives.

Mr Farmer added: "Having a mental health problem can impact on all aspects of our lives, from our relationships and work to our physical health. The personal costs are immeasurable, and the wider economic cost is huge."

"We need local authorities to use their budgets to help people in their communities stay mentally healthy and reduce the chances of them becoming unwell."

Have a happy retirement

IT IS with great sadness to hear that Howard Lay is to retire as chief executive of Samuel Ward Trust.

On behalf of the Haverhill Autism Support Group, I would like to thank him for having the strength to go forward and build the Churchill Special School.

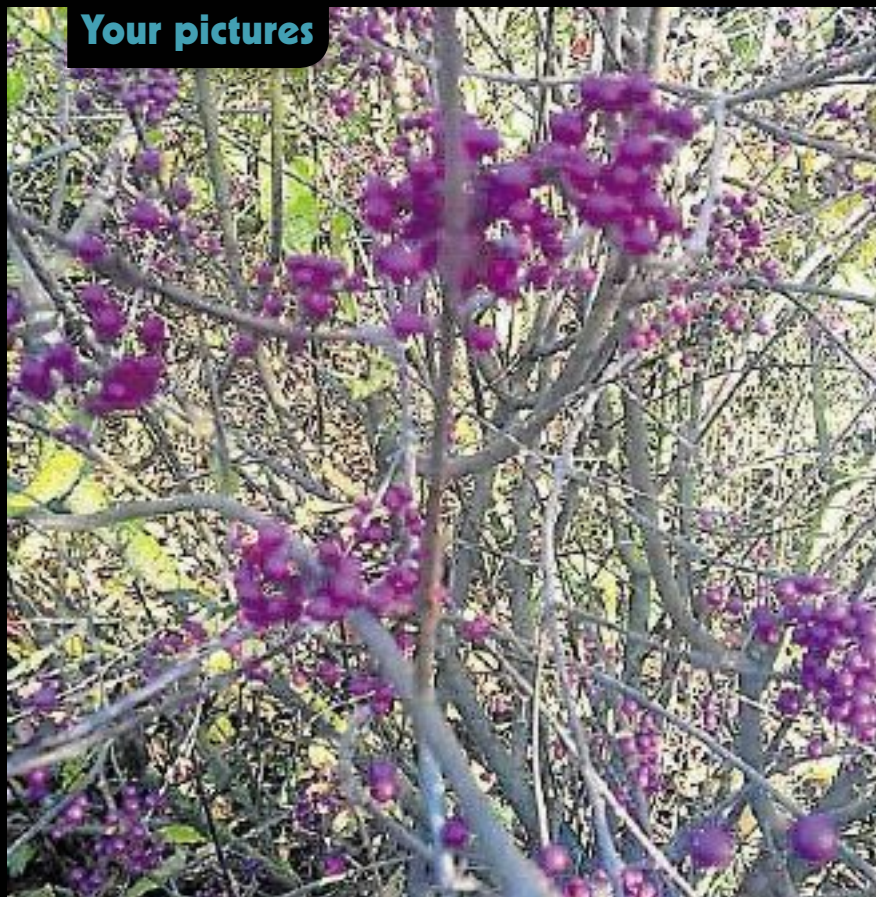

This type of school has been needed in Haverhill and Suffolk for years for children who have been unable to attend mainstream, other special schools, or no school at all.

If it wasn't for him and his wonderful team of local head teachers, governors and others, this 'outstanding' special school, which is the only one in Suffolk, would not have been built.

Have a happy retirement

Howard!

Give me back my sunglasses

I LIVE in what I thought is a lovely safe neighbourhood in Haverhill, but am not so sure.

I park my car out the front of my house and have had wipers, an aerial, and wing mirrors pulled off.

The latest incident has been the worst. Someone entered my car and stole some loose change – that doesn't bother me too much – but also my Ray-Ban sunglasses that were a present for my 40th birthday.

Someone out there must know something. Have you had a member of the family or friend come home with some, perhaps sold to them second hand or given as a gift? I don't want to know who took them or why they thought it OK to enter my car and take them, I just want them back.

If you know anything you can call me on the number left with this newspaper.

Prime site in desolate state

SO our council are doing it again. Buildings in the town centre at the Gurteen site are to be demolished, and the council have no idea if or when any replacements will be built, so leaving a desolate area at a prime site. Meanwhile we have the old Atterton & Ellis site.

What is annoying, but not perhaps surprising is that councillors expressed surprise at just how terrible these buildings have become, proving, if proof was needed, how little interest our "representatives" have in the town, and what happened to the UKIP promise to redevelop brown field sites?

I hope all this be borne in mind if our councillors stand for re-election.

I would add that this is not a pre election promotion on my part.

PERFORMERS: Robin Hood and Maid Marian in this year's panto

Oh yes it is . . . panto time!

THERE will be an audience full of merry men – and women and children – at Robin Hood, this year's Haverhill pantomime.

The family show starts on Tuesday and runs until Friday, December 30.

It tells the familiar story of the outlaw Robin as he struggles to win the heart of Maid Marian and defeat the wicked Sheriff of Nottingham.

The star of the show this year is Sue Hodge, known for her role as French waitress Mimi LaBonq in the classic TV sitcom 'Allo 'Allo.

While Sue is a panto veteran, she says that her role as Nurse Mimi at the Haverhill Arts Centre will be the first time she has played the classic panto dame.

HANNAH MIRSKY
@HannahMirskyCN

"Mimi will be coming along looking for all her merry men," said Sue. "I'm waiting with baited breath. I hear you are a good bunch in Haverhill."

"You can look forward to fun, laughter, merriment, music, frivolity, and just a teensy bit of naughtiness from Mimi."

The production also stars Lloyd Notice as the Sheriff of Nottingham, and Rikki Chamberlain, who plays ITV's Captain Jack, as Friar Tuck, as well as children from Haverhill's own Lisa Mason School of Dance.

Lloyd, who is also helping to direct the panto, said:

"Sue Hodge is just hilarious – she's just got such fantastic comic timing. As soon as she goes onto the stage she's just wonderful – she goes across the generations."

"Rikki Chamberlain is a fantastic Friar Tuck – a comic genius. And Maid Marian and Robin have got the most fantastic singing voices. I dare anyone when they hear them not to have a tear in their eye for the right reasons."

He urged Haverhill residents to bring their laughter and boos and get to the arts centre to watch the show.

Tickets can be booked at haverhillartscentre.co.uk, or by calling the box office on (01440) 714 140.

A discounted family ticket is available.

Good causes are handed £3k from Summer Bash

HANNAH MIRSKY
@HannahMirskyCN

NEARLY £3,000 raised at a Haverhill community fun day has been given to local good causes.

The proceeds from the town's Summer Bash, which took place in July, were handed out on Wednesday and Thursday last week.

Cheques went to the Lamp H group for children with disabilities; Leading Lives, which supports adults with learning difficulties; Haverhill Scouts and Guides and Haverhill in Bloom.

The other beneficiaries were Get Up and Grow, an allotment project for people with mental health problems; women's group Wednesdays for Women; disability snooker charity TJS Snookerbility and community transport organisation Three Counties Transport.

Summer Bash organiser David Doughty said that the response from the groups had been positive, with several emailing to say thank you.

He said Leading Lives had told him members of the group had decided to spend the funds on art equipment and a trip to the seaside when the weather was warmer.

Overall, more than £7,000 was raised at this summer's Bash, but the committee is keeping some of the funds raised in reserve for the 2017 event.

Mr Doughty said: "Next year will be our fifth year so I absolutely want to have a bigger and better show.

"With us holding back some funds this year we might be able to buy some different entertainment.

"We have got some ideas already forming for next year so that it will be slightly different."

He encouraged members of the public who wanted to nominate a good cause as a beneficiary, as well as individuals interested in volunteering at the Bash and businesses interested in sponsorship, to get in touch.

Students help make baubles from CDs in county project

A HAVERHILL school was one of 24 to take part in a festive recycling campaign which saw students making baubles out of CDs.

Samuel Ward Academy students took part in Suffolk County Council's "1,000 Brilliant Baubles" campaign.

The students used recycled materials to decorate old CDs and turn them into baubles, which have gone on display at the Apex in Bury St Edmunds, as well as Ipswich Town Hall.

As well as the schools, two Guide and Brownie groups and a library took part, creating a total of 1,200 baubles. They will be on display until mid-January.

The aim of the campaign is to promote recycling over the Christmas period.

Cllr Clive Arthey, chairman of the Suffolk Waste Partnership, said: "The 1,000 Brilliant Baubles campaign has been a fantastic way to celebrate how good we are at recycling and reusing in Suffolk!"

"It's great to see the pupils, parents and staff all working together. It's the same as recycling in general, if we all do a little bit it adds up to making a very big difference. Thank you to everyone who took part."

CRIME

Thieves snatch £15k of jewels

BURGLARS took at least £15,000 worth of jewellery and caused thousands of pounds damage in a raid on an antiques centre.

Chris Marchant, who owns Clare Antiques in the town of Clare, said the same cabinet had been targeted in a break-in last December.

Just like in 2015, a single glass display cabinet full of jewellery was smashed, which Mr Marchant said was on the other side of the building from the fire exit where they broke in.

Mr Marchant continued: "The place is absolutely crowded with furniture, and there wasn't a trace of any item of clothing, any hairs."

"There wasn't a single item of furniture knocked over."

"They seem to be able to dart through very quickly and not leave a trace."

He said that security measures such as stronger

HANNAH MIRSKY

glass and a more sophisticated alarm had been fitted on the jewellery cabinet after last year's break-in.

But despite the alarm sounding and neighbours calling the police after the incident, which happened sometime before 7.30am last Wednesday, the burglars could not be found.

Mr Marchant said this was the fourth break-in in six years at the shop, and he was now in the process of installing a sophisticated form of CCTV in case of any future incidents.

He said the trader whose cabinet was targeted estimated the value of the stolen rings and necklaces at a minimum of £15,000.

Mr Marchant said that repairing the damage done by the thieves, who forced a door to get in, would cost several thousand pounds, and the total cost of the incident could easily rise above £20,000.

He described the break-in as "depressing" and said that the reaction from the trader had been "philosophical".

But he added that the business was "very lucky" in that theft and shoplifting incidents there are rare.

"My attitude is I don't believe in letting anybody get the better of me," he said.

The antiques centre was closed on Wednesday as a forensics team examined the scene – costing its 90 traders a day's business – but was open as usual on Thursday.

Suffolk police are asking anyone who saw anything suspicious in the area or has any information to call them on 101.

Pupils' art goes on display

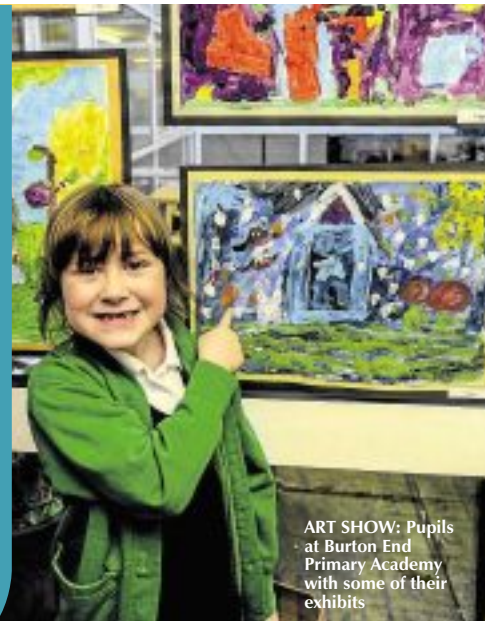

THE artistic talents of Haverhill primary school children were celebrated at an exhibition on Thursday.

Burton End Primary Academy held a whole-school art exhibition, giving families and local residents the chance to appreciate the children's work.

The artwork on display ranged from paintings to model boats and colourful Sombrero hats.

Mayor of Haverhill, Cllr David Roach, said: "The exhibition is absolutely brilliant – we have been taken around the world. It really showcases how talented the pupils are."

This was the second time the school has held an exhibition.

School chef to share expertise

HANNAH MIRSKY
@HannahMirskyCN

A "DINNER lady" has been highly commended in a regional award – and now she's sharing her knowledge with schools across Haverhill.

Clare Powell, who works at Samuel Ward Academy, said she was "really pleased" to be highly commended in the School Chef of the Year regional finals for the east.

At the competition, which took place on Wednesday, November 30, Clare wowed the judges with her main dish of Moroccan chicken, vegetable cous-cous and yoghurt flatbread.

The Samuel Ward Academy Trust has created a new role for Mrs Powell which will see her travelling around all 13 schools in the trust – including the seven in Haverhill. She will be working closely with existing catering staff at the schools.

She said: "I am based at

PLEASED: School chef Clare Powell

Samuel Ward but I will cover all the schools at the trust. I want to work with all the different school chefs to produce the best food possible."

Mrs Powell, who ran a pub for 15 years before starting her career in catering, said she is driven to help children eat well.

She continued: "I want to use the school kitchen to trial foods around the world.

By allowing them to experience all different kinds of food, it will hopefully be interesting for children and educate them out of the classroom as well.

"The children have been brilliant in experimenting and trying different things."

Archers Interiors will do right by you

ARCHERS Interiors have recently celebrated the third anniversary trading from their Haverhill showroom. Terry and Sally Archer started the company in 2013; Terry has more than 25 years' experience and is the chief designer and project manager, while Sally runs the office and manages the finances.

Back in 2015, Archers recruited Aaron Groom to join the team and over a year later, he has fitted into the company perfectly and has become an integral part of the team. Aaron's design skills have developed well over the last 18 months which have helped him build a base of satisfied clients for both fitted kitchens and bathrooms.

Aaron said: "It's my job to keep a balance between function and appearance. We use high quality materials and brands to make the best possible use of the space available. A kitchen is a practical place, so our designs will always maximise storage and convenience – and still look great!"

The company offers free of charge no-obligation in-home consultation. Following the designers' visit, Archers will prepare plan and perspective drawings, as well as quotation for your project.

Archers Interiors offer a supply-only service, or a full installation service if required. They have a glowing local reputation and are recommended by a growing num-

Warning over parking misery

HANNAH MIRSKY
@HannahMirskyCN

POLICE are warning residents about problem parking clogging roads and meaning large vehicles can't get through.

Sgt Matt Gilbert, of Haverhill police, told the News the force had received a number of complaints about parking in the town's Chauntry Road and Crowland Road.

He said: "We would encourage people not to park on both sides of the road – it's causing problems. We are getting quite a few enquiries about it."

He said that if an emergency happened on one of these roads, police, fire and ambulance vehicles might end up damaging parked vehicles in order to get through the narrow space left between the cars.

He said other large vehicles would simply not be able to get down the roads.

Haverhill town, borough

PROBLEM PARKING: Sgt Matt Gilbert says there have been a number of complaints and county councillor John Burns said the problem was causing gridlock, as people were not giving way on the two-way roads.

He said: "What you have got is houses built for either no vehicles or one car, and people have two, three, four cars and they all expect to park next to their houses."

He said that he and town and borough councillor Paula Fox had spoken to Suffolk Highways about introducing permit systems or yellow lines on these roads, but this would take a long time.

He said the problem could continue until responsibility for parking enforcement in Suffolk is transferred from the police to the council.

This process may not be completed until April 2019 – meaning two years more parking misery in Haverhill.

Cllr Burns said residents need to use town centre car parks – which are often under-used – to relieve parking pressure on residential roads.

He said: "We tried to encourage people to use the car parks. They can buy season tickets."

FESTIVE FLICK'S EASY TO BASH...

DIRECTORS Josh Gordon and Will Speck, a trio of screenwriters and most of the cast of Office Christmas Party should land on Santa's naughty list for this relentlessly foul-mouthed comedy of errors.

Hung on the flimsiest of dramatic conceits, this vulgar valentine to behaving badly under the influence of alcohol, drugs and excessive testosterone possesses no airs and graces.

The script plays pass the parcel with thinly sketched characters' emotions, orchestrating romantic entanglements to ensure a generous sash of saccharine cheer over the end credits, which are festooned with the usual array of out-takes.

Amid the debauchery, pop culture references and stolen reindeer, there are a couple of decent laughs, but it's hard to know whether credit is due to the actors' inspired ad-libs or a gilded one-liner on the page.

Either way, Office Christmas Party is less the sum of its starry parts and doesn't do justice to an ensemble that includes Jennifer Aniston, Jason Bateman, TJ Miller and Kate McKinnon.

Hard-nosed CEO-in-waiting Carol Vanstone (Aniston) is unimpressed with the Chicago branch of IT company Zenotek run by her party-loving brother, Clay (Miller).

Determined to prove her steely resolve to the board, Carol makes the decision to initiate cost-cutting redundancies and renege on the promise of end-of-year bonuses.

"All branch Christmas parties are cancelled," she adds with a glare.

Clay and chief technical officer Josh (Bateman) plead with Carol

Chilling out... Olivia Munn and Jason Bateman to show compassion and she agrees to cancel the lay-offs if they close a $14m deal with Walter Davis (Courtney B Vance) and his company, Data City.

Goofball Clay believes they should invite Walter to the most extravagant Christmas party in the company's history, which he will stage behind Carol's back.

Josh's right-hand woman Tracey (Olivia Munn) and politically correct head of HR, Mary (McKinnon), collaborate on plans for the ultimate festive shindig, but as news spreads about free drinks at the Zenotek offices, everyone in the city descends on the building.

Alcohol flows and nice guy employee Nate (Karan Soni) becomes enslaved to a sassy escort called Savannah (Abbey Lee) and her gun-toting pimp Trina (Jillian Bell), while Clay's caring personal assistant Allison (Vanessa Bayer) discovers her mild-mannered office crush Fred (Randall Park) has an alarming fetish.

Office Christmas Party is a tinsel-strewn vision of Sodom and Gomorrah that will be hair of the dog for undemanding audiences who enjoyed The Hangover.

Aniston manages to keep a straight face as the mean-spirited company exec, who spitefully ruins Yuletide for one unsuspecting child, and pockets some of the best physical humour.

Miller essays another lovable goofball, while Bateman maintains a modicum of calm as everyone around him loses their minds and inhibitions over a photocopier.

Sibling rivalry... Jennifer Aniston as Carol and TJ Miller as Clay

Party on... Jennifer Aniston, Olivia Munn, Jason Bateman and TJ Miller

THIS character study, from director Oliver Stone, opens with documentary film-maker Laura Poitras (Melissa Leo) and journalist Glenn Greenwald (Zachary Quinto) meeting whistleblower Edward Snowden (Joseph Gordon-Levitt) in Hong Kong.

They place mobile phones in a microwave in Edward's room - a security measure to prevent surveillance tracking

- before he recounts his life story in flashbacks.

He recalls his training with the US Army, which leads to a position at the CIA under unit director Corbin O'Brian (Rhys Ifans).

Edward's coding skills propel him on the fast track to writing programs that will protect sensitive

National Security Agency (NSA) data.

Assured... Joseph Gordon-Levitt as Edward Snowden

Meanwhile, he begins dating Lindsay Mills (Shailene Woodley), who stands by Edward as he embarks on his momentous course - to go public as the CIA contractor who leaked sensitive material belonging to the NSA.

Snowden is a polished, if suspense-free, political thriller for our surveillance-heavy times that shines a sympathetic light on the lead character.

Gordon-Levitt delivers a measured performance, teasing out Edward's naivete as he delivers the script's barnstorming key speeches in favour of disclosure: "It's not about terrorism. Terrorism is the excuse. It's about social and economic control."

ALSO SHOWING

THE BIRTH OF A NATION (15)

HISTORICAL drama about an 1831 slave rebellion in Virginia, where slave owner Samuel Turner (Armie Hammer) believes he is more tolerant and understanding than many of his neighbours.

His God-fearing mother Elizabeth (Penelope Ann Miller) raised Samuel with a slave boy called Nat (Nate Parker, who also directs) as his playmate, and taught Nat to read using the word of the Bible.

Nat devours every word and grows up with a belief that he must preach to his people. He falls in love with another slave, Cherry (Aja Naomi King), but when she is brutally assaulted by a gang of white slave owners, led by snarling Raymond Cobb (Jackie Earle Haley), Nat questions the order of his unforgiving world. This, and other injustices, light a fire within him, and he leads a rebellion that puts him on a collision course with Cobb and the pro-slavery establishment.

A passionate, yet clumsily conceived, rallying cry for equality, spattered with the blood and tears of men, who acknowledge that violence begets greater violence.

Passionate story... Nate Parker as Nat

MOANA WAIALIKI (voiced by Auli'i Cravalho) is the daughter of Chief Tui (Temuera Morrison) and has been groomed since birth to lead her people on the island of Motunui. However, she feels a strong calling to the sea which angers her father, who believes the tropical paradise can sustain their tribe. Moana's wise grandmother Tala (Rachel House) fills the girl's head with wild stories about the demi-god Maui, who stole the heart of the island goddess Te Fiti and lost this precious green stone during a battle with ferocious lava demon Te Ka. The old woman encourages Moana to seek out Maui and restore Te Fiti's missing heart in order to bring prosperity to the island. Moana is another solid gold hit from Disney's animation studio.

SULLY: MIRACLE ON THE HUDSON (12A)

ON JANUARY 15, 2009, Captain Chesley 'Sully' Sullenberger drew on years of experience to glide a stricken Airbus A320 onto New York's Hudson River in freezing conditions. Clint Eastwood's exemplary thriller, which centres on the subsequent investigation by the National Transportation Safety Board (NTSB), is a masterclass in sustained tension, replaying events aboard US Airways Flight 1549 and from the ground, from multiple perspectives. The NTSB investigation, led by Charles Porter (Mike O'Malley), Elizabeth Davis (Anna Gunn) and Ben Edwards (Jamey Sheridan), forms the crux and the script nimbly condenses the 15-month timeframe to explore the strain on Sully (Tom Hanks) and First Officer Skiles (Aaron Eckhart).

Back to the Fiesta future

ORIGINAL: Fiesta replaced the Anglia

FORD rightly made a big song and dance about the launch of their new Fiesta model with over 2,000 dealers and 500-plus motoring media from across Europe went to their Niehl factory in Cologne for a 90-minute rolling roadshow, writes David Ward.

It was a far cry from the somewhat low key launch of the first Fiesta in 1976 at which I was present with only a handful of motoring writers.

That first Fiesta revelation 40 years ago had more of a softly-softly approach because Ford executives were a little cautious of what the media and of course the car-buying public would think of this new small, three-door car which was really their first new innovation entry into this sector after the dinky Ford Anglia having always previously produced much bigger cars like the Consul and Zodiac.

Prices have changed too – that first Fiesta cost just £1,856!

Designated driver is unsung festive hero

CHRISTMAS is a time for remembering family and friends and Allianz Insurance wants to add another group of people to those we think of at this time of year – Designated Drivers!

Allianz found that over a third of people (36 per cent) will take on the role of Designated Driver over the festive period so that their passengers can attend an event and enjoy a drink or two.

Some Designated Drivers feel they are making a significant personal sacrifice because 36 per cent said they are only doing it because it's 'their turn'. And for many drivers, their good deed turned into a rather challenging experience – 59 per cent of Designated Drivers said their passengers had done something annoying during the journey back.

Here are the Designated Driver top five things they wished their passengers had not done during the drive home:

1. Being ill in the car
2. Making too much noise
3. Laughing at things that just aren't funny to a sober person
4. Distracting the driver when the car is moving

GOOD CALL: Someone has to take the higher ground and get everyone home safely!

5. Asking to take extra people home
Drink-driving is a serious consideration all year round but over Christmas the temptation to have a few drinks can be strong. So it's reassuring to know that 82 per cent of Designated Drivers plan to remain teetotal when 'on duty'. However, considerable caution is needed among the 17 per cent of Designated Drivers who say they will consume some alcohol at the event but not enough to be over the drink-drive limit.

Allianz also found that 16 per cent of people are using some sort of car share arrangement to get home. However, one in 10 people (10 per cent) are planning to drive themselves home. These self-drivers could be taking a chance as one in five people (20 per cent) said they had previously stopped someone from driving home from a work party because they'd consumed too much alcohol.

Simon Brimicombe, director of Underwriting, said: "Designated Drivers are unsung heroes when it comes to keeping people safe on the road."

MG: On the festive road

MG sets off on a Yuletide roadshow

ONE lucky motorist is set to win £2,500 as MG embarks on a nationwide roadshow.

Kicking off at the INTU Merry Hill Shopping Centre in Brierley Hill MG's Christmas Wish Tour will visit 23 towns and cities across the UK, holding 30 tour events in just 36 days.

Alongside entering the Christmas Wish prize draw, motorists can get into the party spirit with festive photos, which will see the best selfies promoted on social media.

And every day of the tour will see five daily prize giveaways of shopping vouchers specific to that day's location.

Drivers keen to check out the new MG range will have the chance to be further rewarded, with gifts on offer to everyone who meets the team and then attends their local dealer to test drive either the MG3 or the new MG GS.

SLEEKER: All-new Insignia option

Vauxhall lines up new Insignia Grand Sport

THIS is Vauxhall's all-new Insignia Grand Sport which will be getting its world reveal at the Geneva Motor Show in March.

As well as having completely new sleeker styling the latest Insignia will be offered with an eight-speed automatic transmission, all-wheel-drive, will be lighter and will be packed with the latest driving aids and safety kit.

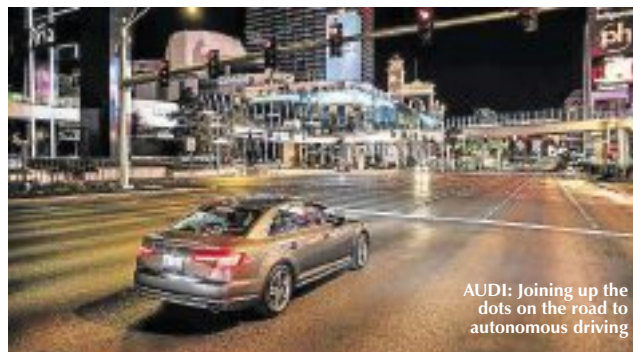

Vauxhall sold more than 30,000 Insignias in the UK last year and the new Grand Sport will offer a more spacious interior, giving the car a more athletic appearance and an improved road stance, including class-leading aerodynamics and Cd figure of just 0.26.

The Insignia Grand Sport will be available with a range of turbocharged engines and transmission options when it is launched later in 2017.

Audi connects car to city's infrastructure

If you know in advance when a traffic light will switch from red to green, your driving is more relaxed and efficient. Audi is the first car manufacturer to connect the car to the city infrastructure – an important step towards autonomous driving. In Las Vegas Audi A4 and Q7 models are now able to display traffic-light phases directly in the car. Further US cities will follow, and introduction of the system is planned in Europe. Traffic Light Information optimises traffic flow, saves valuable time and reduces environmental impact.

Audi of America is cooperating with several cities in North America to upgrade the infrastructure for Vehicle-to-Infrastructure (V2I) technology. "For the first time, our cars are exchanging data with traffic infrastructure in real time. Drivers can adapt their behaviour to the situation and move through city traffic in a much more relaxed and controlled way," says Andreas Reich, head of Electronics Pre-Development at AUDI AG. "We increase energy efficiency when we connect our Audi models to smart cities. Further V2I services will follow, making the car into an interactive mobile device. We see autonomous driving as the end of this development."

As a first step, all Audi A4 and Q7 models produced for the US market since June and equipped with Audi connect have this function on board. In the US, municipal traffic management centres will communicate the traffic-light data to Audi's project partner Traffic Technology Services TTS. Here the data are prepared and sent to the onboard computer in the Audi via a fast Internet connection, for example 4G/LTE, in real time.

The first function of the Traffic Light Information V2I component is called Time-to-Green. In the Audi virtual cockpit or head-up display, drivers see whether they will reach the next light on green while travelling within the permitted speed limit. If not, a countdown is provided of the time remaining until the next green phase – and drivers can throttle back in good time. Pilot projects in Europe have shown that drivers exercise more foresight thanks to this information about traffic lights. This has a beneficial overall effect on traffic flow. "In our tests the number of cars that had to brake to a standstill in traffic fell by around 20 per cent. This saved time for the driver and also made fuel savings of about 15 per cent in the pilot project," says Michael Zweck, project manager for Audi Traffic Light Information.

Audi also intends to introduce the technology in Europe. In Berlin, Ingolstadt, Garmisch-Partenkirchen and Verona there have already been extensive pilot projects. In Berlin alone, some 700 traffic lights in the inner city have been connected to the service. Across Europe, however, unified data standards and digital infrastructure do not exist.

First of all, Audi customers will use this service, but the development work Audi is investing in these traffic-light systems will be of benefit to customers of other brands in future.

Earn Christmas cash for your parking space

CITY centre homeowners could be in for some extra festive cheer this Christmas by renting out their unused parking spaces to shoppers and tourists.

As retailers gear up for the busiest shopping days of the year, online parking market place YourParkingSpace.co.uk is reminding people with spare or unused parking spaces of the potential extra income they could generate.

Lucy Gibbs from Manchester earns £70 a month renting out her parking space in Spinningfields, close to the city's famous Christmas markets.

She describes it as a 'win-win situation', adding, "I'm not using my parking space, and someone else needs it. It's a great concept and it's effortless."

"YourParkingSpace.co.uk manages the payments so there's nothing left for me to deal with and I receive the rent into my account at the end of each month."

Company chief Harrison Woods said: "Millions of people will flock to city centres over the next few weeks to enjoy the festive hustle and bustle and also hit the sales."

"Demand for parking will be high,

SAFETY FIRST: Out shopping

offering homeowners with a spare parking space a fantastic opportunity to make some extra money."

Victoria Matthews from Shepherd's Bush, London, lives close to the popular Westfield Shopping Centre, which attracts around 28 million visitors a year, and rents out her spare parking space for £12 a day.

She said: "I have an allocated parking space that comes with my flat which I wasn't using. When I heard about YourParkingSpace.co.uk I decided to rent it out.

"It only took two minutes to list on their website, it's all been very straightforward and the extra money at the end of each month has helped a great deal."

Birmingham's Frankfurt market, which draws crowds of over five million, opened on November 17 and those living nearby could earn up to £240 while it's in town, according to the online parking marketplace.

Meanwhile, homeowners in London could earn as much as £480, and those in cities such as Leeds, Nottingham and Glasgow could pocket £275.

Meanwhile road safety organisation Gem Motoring Assist has come up with a dozen driving tips to keep motorists safe during the 12 days of Christmas.

The tips for seasonal safety are:

1. Take a taxi home from Christmas parties. Don't drive if you're having a drink. And don't drink any alcohol if you need to drive.
2. Always wear your seatbelt. It's the most effective way to save your life and reduce injuries if you're involved in a crash.
3. Keep children safe through Christmas. Make sure their seatbelts and restraints are correctly fitted in the car – and always used. Ensure they're easy to see if they're walking.
4. If you're picking up a Christmas tree, make sure it's securely tied down before you drive home. Also, don't let a big bushy tree obscure your all-round vision.
5. Slow down. No one else can tell you how fast to drive. It's your responsibility, so don't be selfish. Stay safe, give yourself time and space to stop.
6. Don't drive tired. Fatigued drivers take longer to react to hazards. Take breaks on journeys. Share the driving.

7. Be ready to stay out of the driving seat if you're using medicines that make you drowsy. You don't have to be on illegal drugs to be unfit. Medicines can impair you too.

8. Check your tyre tread and pressure before Christmas journeys. Every safety system on your car depends on your tyres working effectively in an emergency. Tyres can save your life, so take no risks and check them.

9. If you had a few drinks last night, you could still be over the limit the next morning. Time is your only way to be alcohol-free.

10. Don't allow yourself to become distracted on Christmas journeys. No phoning, no texting, no fiddling with sat nav. And encourage the children to do their bit for safety, by letting you focus on the driving.

11. Put safety first and expect to think for others who are less aware of risk. Watch out for kids on new bikes, make allowances for drunk pedestrians.

12. Getting a new mobile phone for Christmas? Don't use it when you're driving. Focus solely on the journey and reduce your risks.

Olympian inspires students to county success

SPECIAL GUEST: Castle Manors Academy students with London 2012 Team GB volleyball star Rachel Laybourne

Volleyball

STUDENTS at Castle Manors Academy, Haverhill, tasted volleyball success at county level just hours after spending the day with a London 2012 Olympian.

Team GB volleyball star Rachel Laybourne spent the day giving taster sessions to the youngsters as well as sharing tips and motivational advice.

And her appearance, which came about through the Sky Sports Living for Sport programme, paid dividends as the school's boys' volleyball team won the county championships later that day.

Rob Dovaston, head of PE at Castle Manors Academy, said: "It was fantastic having Rachel spend the day with us.

"She took some volleyball training and taster sessions and also did some team building exercises.

"Rachel also took a Year 11 assembly, and it was clear our students were very inspired by hearing from an Olympian."

The boys' team of Harry Harding, Matthews Parampil, Cameron Hinds, Cohen Micklewright and Anandu Vijayan took that inspiration to land the county title.

The girls also did well but were beaten in the final.

"I was delighted with how the boys and girls played," continued Dovaston.

"They trained really hard, we prepared well, and Rachel's visit and words definitely proved to be an inspiration."

Rovers pegged back by lowly Swaffham

HAVERHILL Rovers let a two-goal lead slip as they ended up drawing with second from bottom Swaffham in the Thurlow Nunn League, Premier Division.

It took just four minutes for Rovers to take the lead, with Rory Jebb converting Danny Hill's ball in.

Mason Newman had a shot saved as the hosts continued to dominate proceedings, but the lead was doubled in the 23rd minute.

Hill received the ball to the left of the goal and after a quick touch to control it, he struck a low shot past Swaffham keeper

Football

Dan Gentry.

Ben Bradley was denied a goal by a great save from Gentry, and it proved to be a crucial moment as not long afterwards the visitors reduced the deficit.

Alex Vincent was the scorer, beating Rovers keeper Charlie Turner with a well-placed lob just before the interval.

Newman went close to making it 3-1 early in the second half and Jebb had a shot saved at the near post.

But then with 22 minutes left, the ball was played through the middle and Vincent was able to hit a powerful shot that Turner was unable to keep out despite getting a hand to it.

Marcus Hunt headed wide as Rovers chased the winner and Bradley shot wide, but the match finished honours even.

Haverhill Borough suffered last-minute agony as a late winner at Braintree Town reserves condemned them to a 1-0 defeat in the First Division.

An open game saw the visitors create the first real chance, with Ryan Swallow forcing a good save from Braintree keeper Harry Aldridge.

Jarid Robson also went close, before the home side created their first real chance, Aaron Dyson shooting just wide.

Boro were put under mounting pressure in the second half but they still created chances, with Craig Pruden and Gareth Thomas threatening the Braintree goal.

Ryan Phillips had a shot cleared off the line and Aaron Forshaw had an effort blocked.

But it was the home side who scored the winner, Alfie Manley firing home after running on to a long clearance.
